WANTS SENATE TO LISTEN TO PUBLIC

Majority Leader Kern Presents Reforms to Make Upper House More Democratic

THEY REFUSE TILLMAN A POST

Carolina Senator Defies New Democratic Leaders when Denied the Chairmanship

WASHINGTON, March 15.—"To enable the senate to become a more powerful agency for the registration of the public will, and quickly to respond to the desires and demands of the people as expressed at the polls," was the recommendation urged upon the senate democratic caucus today by Senator Kern, the majority leader, in presenting a series of reforms recommended by the "steering committee."

The progressive changes suggested were that all democratic members of conference committees, and sub-committees shall be chosen by the democratic members of the respective committees; that the "steering" committee shall henceforth be chosen by the caucus rather than by the caucus chairman; that the majority members of the committees shall elect their own chairman and that vacancies on committees shall be filled by the steering committee subject to endorsement by the caucus.

Action on the reforms suggested by Kern was deferred by the caucus until a later meeting to be called for the special consideration.

The committee chairman as elected by the "steering committee" and approved by the caucus, included the following:

Appropriations, Martin of Virginia; agriculture, Gore of Oklahoma; banking, Owen of Oklahoma; Canadian relations, Shields of Tennessee; census, Chilton of West Virginia; civil service, Pomeroy of Ohio; claims, Bryan of Florida; commerce, Clarke of Arkansas; conservation, Smith of Arizona; education and labor, Smith of Georgia; finance, Simmons of North Carolina; foreign relations, Bacon of Georgia; immigration, Smith of South Carolina; Indian affairs, Stone of Missouri; industrial exhibitions, Ashurst of Arizona; inter-oceanic canals, O'Gorman of New York; interstate commerce, Newlands of Nevada; judiciary, Culbertson of Texas; library, Lee of Tennessee; manufacturers, Reed of Missouri; military affairs, Johnston, Alabama; naval affairs, Tillman of South Carolina; Pacific islands, Shaffroth of Colorado; pensions, Shively of Indiana; Philippines, Hitchcock of Nebraska; post-offices, Bankhead of Alabama; privileges and elections, Kern of Indiana; public lands, Chamberlain of Oregon; rules, Overman of North Carolina; territories, Pittman of Nevada; woman's suffrage, Thomas of Colorado.

Beaten in the caucus in his stubborn fight for the chairmanship of the appropriations committee, Senator Tillman delivered a speech full of his old time fire, bristling with defiance of the new leaders of democracy in the upper house, and walked out of the caucus room.

ADMITS LOW WAGES CAUSES DOWNFALL

Find One Employer in Peoria Who Admits Relation Between Pay and Social Evil

PEORIA, Ill., March 15.—One employer was found today by the Illinois senate investigating committee on white slave traffic who was willing to admit that low wages and the social evil are related. He was Frank G. Young, manager of the F. W. Woolworth & Co. store here.

Asked by Lieutenant Governor Barratt O'Hara if a girl who received a wage of $10 a week was fortified to resist temptation when it cost her $12 a week to live decently, Young answered "No."

"Then," said O'Hara, "you think the question of low wages has something to do with vice?"

"Yes, to a certain extent," answered Young.

Young was one of four employers testifying this morning who refused the profits of his company, E. C. Hydrick, head of the Peoria Cordage works alone furnished the committee with details of his company's profits. He said they were $60,000 last year.

COUNCILMEN HONOR MARVIN'S MEMORY

Reading of 'In Memoriam' Resolution a Solemn Tribute to Departed Associate

HIS CHAIR DRAPED IN MOURNING

Council Adjourns for Week as Mark of Respect; Sympathize with Family

Out of respect for George B. Marvin, Jr., "alderman from the Ninth," whose funeral every member of the common council and every city official attended yesterday afternoon, the regular monthly meeting of the council was adjourned last night after a few minutes' session. Alderman Marvin's seat in the council chamber was draped in mourning and a beautiful stand of flowers covered the top of his desk, a tribute to his memory from his associates in the governing body of the city.

Immediately on the close of the routine business which was disposed of as rapidly as possible, Alderman P. W. Mahoney presented a resolution, "In Memoriam." The reading of the resolution, phrasing the character and work of the reform advocate in terms of sincere praise and mourning with his family and friends his untimely death, assumed the solemnity of a formal service. On the instant the resolution was adopted Alderman Best Smith addressed the mayor, "as a mark of further respect to Alderman Marvin, I move that the council adjourn until next Friday night."

The resolution in memoriam, which was unanimously adopted, was read as follows:

"The mayor and common council and city officers have learned with profound sorrow and regret of the sudden and untimely death of our official associate, George B. Marvin, Jr.

"Mr. Marvin was born in the state of Illinois about forty-seven years ago and was at the time of his death in the prime of life. About twenty-eight years ago he came to North La Crosse with his parents and since that time with the exception of a short interval he has been a resident of La Crosse. He always entered with a spirit and vigor into the social and business life of this community and bore a reputation for honorable and upright dealings with his fellow men. He was an ardent advocate of all those things which he believed to be for the moral improvement of the community. He was intensely Christian in his character and did much for the church to which he belonged.

Sincere Public Official

"As a public official Mr. Marvin stood for what he believed was right and for the best interest of the city and while his associates often differed with him on some subjects they always gave him credit for being sincere in what he advocated. He always approached city business from the viewpoint of what was best for the whole city.

"In his home life he was an ideal husband and father and he leaves to mourn his loss a wife and four children, also his aged father, two brothers and two sisters.

"In view of the life and public service of the departed it is due that this body take some official action and show its recognition and appreciation of the sterling worth of the deceased, therefore be it

Resolved, by the mayor and common council of the city of La Crosse, that we deplore the untimely death of George B. Marvin, Jr., and that in his death the city has lost the services of a faithful official, the community an honorable and upright Christian gentleman, his wife and children a faithful and loving husband and father, and be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this preamble and resolutions be spread upon our records and that a copy be sent to the widow of the deceased, and be it further,

Resolved, that the seat of Mr. Marvin in this council be draped in mourning until his successor is elected and enters upon the discharge of his duties."

MRS ROSENA LORENZ DIES OF OLD AGE

FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT BY FLOODS

La Crosse River Backs Up; Homes May Be Washed Away; Residents Rescued

ARE TAKEN AWAY IN BOATS

Railroad Bridge Abandoned; Roads Washed Out; Rock Piled Around Piers of Bridges

Twenty-five families living in the vicinity of Goose Green marsh, on George, Kane and Loomis streets were forced to leave their homes last night by the flood which was caused by the extremely high water of the La Crosse river backing up in the marsh.

Alderman Otto Granke was called last night at 12 o'clock by residents of George street, who, hearing the lapping of water against the houses, called for assistance. Mr. Granke helped several families to escape from the flood by boat. George street is covered by nearly five feet of water, a mark which has not been attained since the flood of 1903.

Try to Rescue Furniture

Families, who were forced to leave their homes, found shelter for the night in the homes of friends nearby who cheerfully aided them. Early in the morning, when it was found that the water was still rising, those who had to leave their homes obtained boats and endeavored to get their furniture out of the lower floors of their homes. It is feared that some of the smaller frame houses will be washed away.

Railroad Bridge Tottering

The freshet washed away one of the piers supporting the Milwaukee railroad bridge last night. Later on in the day the bridge was condemned. All trains on the Milwaukee are being run straight through, and are not going to the south side station. Buses are being run to the north side for the accommodation of passengers. The water of the La Crosse river has attained a high water mark greater than for many years. All bridges are in danger. It was thought this morning that the Third street wagon bridge was in danger of being washed away. Precautions were taken, by piling loads of rocks and earth around the end piers.

Roads Cut Off

Many of the employees of the Rubber Mills on the north side who lived in the flooded district were unable to get to their work this morning. The wagon bridge near the mills was nearly covered with water. Loaded teams could not cross it.

Several roads leading out of the city were blocked this morning by washouts. The "Hoffman Hill" on the Onalaska road, between West Salem and Onalaska was washed away last night. Wagon traffic on the road is entirely shut off.

The road leading to the abattoir from Grand Crossing is washed out in several places, making it impossible to travel.

BEATEN TO FORCE SIGNING CONFESSION

Russian Prisoners Tell of Torture They Were Put Through by Police Sergeant

ST. PETERSBURG, March 15.—The leniency of the high court of Saratov in sentencing to only three months' imprisonment Police Sergeant Tsorkovny and six rural constables, convicted of torturing a number of prisoners suspected of murder, has evoked loud protests from the liberal press.

One of the victims died as the result of the brutalities inflicted upon him. Another made this statement at the trial:

"Both my father and I, after being taken to prison, were beaten with whips, cat-of-nine tails, sabres and the butt-ends of rifles. All the other prisoners, who were similarly treated, were dragged in a bleeding condition to a table, whereon lay a confession which we were ordered to sign. On refusing, we were beaten again. When we asked to be allowed to look through the paper, or at least to have its contents read out to us, the beating was resumed. Several times I fainted, whereupon they brought me back to consciousness by pouring cold water over me, and demanded that I should sign the paper. I do not remember that I complied with that order, as I fainted again, and only recovered consciousness when a priest administered holy communion to me, after which I was transferred to the hospital. The beating went on every day for a week. The police commissary would not, however, allow our heads or faces to be struck, explaining that this would leave marks."

The evidence of the other witnesses was of like character.

LAW MAKERS WILL MEET IN LA CROSSE

Joint Legislative Committees of Wisconsin and Minnesota to Hold Hearings

PLAN UNIFORM GAME LAWS

Sportsmen and Market Fishermen Urged to Be Present Thursday and Friday

Legislation concerning sportsmen and fishermen on Wisconsin and Minnesota, which is of the utmost importance to the two states because of the fact that it was impossible to establish the exact boundary line in the Mississippi river, will be discussed and drafted in La Crosse next Thursday and Friday, when joint committees of the legislatures of both states will hold hearings in this city.

The hearings and discussions will take place in the court house and commercial fishermen and sportsmen of the two states operating on the Mississippi river have been invited to attend.

Plan Uniform Laws

It is expected that the hearings will result in the production of information which will establish the basis of the proposed uniform fish and game legislation recommended by the joint boundary line commission in its reports to the legislatures of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Disputes of many years standing regarding the rights of game wardens and fishermen who operate on the boundary line waters will be discussed with a view to the drafting of laws which will eliminate these difficulties in the future.

It is believed that the La Crosse County Hunting and Fishing Association and the Upper Mississippi Valley Commercial Fishermen's union will take active part in the discussions and it has been announced that the fish and game departments of both states will be represented.

Membership of Committees

The membership of the Wisconsin joint committee has been announced as follows: Chairman, Senator Geo. B. Skogne, River Falls; Senator Robert Glenn, Wyalusing; Senator L. B. Kellogg, Ripon; and Assemblymen John A. Chinnock, Hudson; Henry Laycock, Eau Claire; and E. J. Kneen, Bangor. Senator Fosseen is the chairman of the Minnesota committee but the other members' names have not yet been announced.

The committeemen will stay at the Stoddard Hotel while in the city.

George Zahn, 1520 La Crosse street, died at his home this morning at 3:30 after a three months illness of heart trouble. He was 72 years of age.

Mr. Zahn was born in Germany, coming to America when a young man, and coming to La Crosse in 1883. He was for many years the sexton of the Jewish cemetery. He is survived by three sons, John and Edward of La Crosse and George of Minneapolis. Three daughters survive, Mrs. William Stotz, Pittsburg, Pa.; Mrs. Frank Nikola of La Crosse, and Mrs. Albert Buyers of Lansing, Ia. He is also survived by one brother, John Zahn, and a widow.

ALL CANDIDATES VERY CONFIDENT

Business Element Sure Dan MacMillan Will Be One of the Two Candidates on the Ticket

OTHER CANDIDATES EQUALLY SURE

Both Sorensen and Dengler Feel They Have a 'Cinch' and Adams and McCaleb Report Good Support

The campaign for Dan MacMillan for mayor took on an aggressive form Friday morning, and for two days business men who are dissatisfied with the past administrations have been going into outlying wards and urging the election of a plain business man for the position. The result has been many assurances of support, and a general growth in the movement. The MacMillan men claim that already they have assured a place on the election ticket for their candidate, and that the final outcome is certain victory for him. Dr. Anderson's espousal of his non-partisan candidacy is expected to help Mr. MacMillan immensely.

The Sorensen men have organized, with N. C. Bacheller for chairman and A. C. Wolfe for secretary, and say they have perfected a strong ward organization. They make the claim that Sorensen will have more votes in the primary than Mayor John Dengler and Mr. MacMillan combined. Their headquarters are in the offices of Wolfe & Wolfe, MacMillan building. A further statement of their case appears on page 6 of this issue.

Mayor Dengler claims the nomination, and is very confident. His friends point to the fact that his honesty is not questioned. They are confident that the enemies he has made will add to his strength. They are depending more upon spontaneous public opinion than upon organization work, and regard their campaign as practically finished.

W. F. Adams feels that he has finished a week of work that will place him on the ticket. He has considerable support from railroad men, and relies upon his platform to net him enough votes to get him into the running. His friends bank upon his qualities as a friendly and wide-awake young business man to get him much support.

Notwithstanding the technical error in registering his papers, R. C. McCaleb, the social democratic candidate, is expected to poll practically the united vote of his party and to get some support on account of his "clean town" platform.

SOUTHERN TORNADO DEATH LIST GROWS

Ninety Persons Thought Dead and Property Loss Is Many Millions

WISCONSIN CONDITIONS IMPROVE

Floods Subside But General Heavy Snow May Cause Return of Danger

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 15.—Reports from the district swept by a cyclonic storm Thursday, still incomplete, indicated today that ninety persons were killed, scores seriously injured and property loss of an indefinite amount, running into millions, had been sustained in the south.

Cold weather today caused great suffering among storm victims and additional deaths may result from exposure.

When wire communication is re-established, it was believed today the death list may be increased. Many cities are still cut from the world in the devastated regions.

State Floods Drop

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 15.—Early reports received today from the cities swept by storm and flood Friday indicated that conditions are generally improved. In the majority of cases the floods were the result of ice jams and these for the most part moved out without inflicting further misfortune.

Reports indicated that the snow which began to fall shortly before midnight Friday was general, and it was feared there may be a repetition of Friday's flood if there is a sudden thaw.

Flagman Blown Away

TEMPERATURE DROP SAVES BLACK RIVER

Freeze-up Checks Threatening Rise at Scene of 1911 Flood Disaster

ICE CARRIES OUT DAM GATES

Unable to Raise Them and Let Out the Flood Water Which Backs Up Over Former City Site

The sudden change in temperature last night averted a possible repetition of the Black River Falls flood disaster which threatened yesterday. The drop in temperature caused the surface water to freeze up, and as a result the river rise which yesterday threatened the city is dropping today.

Three gates in the city dam were carried out by the river yesterday when the ice went out. When the flood was seen to be rising, an attempt was made to raise the gates in the dam, but they were frozen fast. One gate went out at about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, another at six and the last one some time during the night.

The backwater from the dam covered the flat area which the city was built before the 1911 flood, but as the new city is on high ground no damage was done. When the gates went out the backwater subsided.

THE BIG "CREEK" IS STILL RISING

The Mississippi river has risen a foot in the past twenty-four hours. At noon yesterday the gauge on the wagon bridge stood at 6.5. It now registers 7.5. Fishermen and those on the river who have watched the spring freshets say they expect the river to rise rapidly, unless the cold weather of the last twelve hours has come to stay.

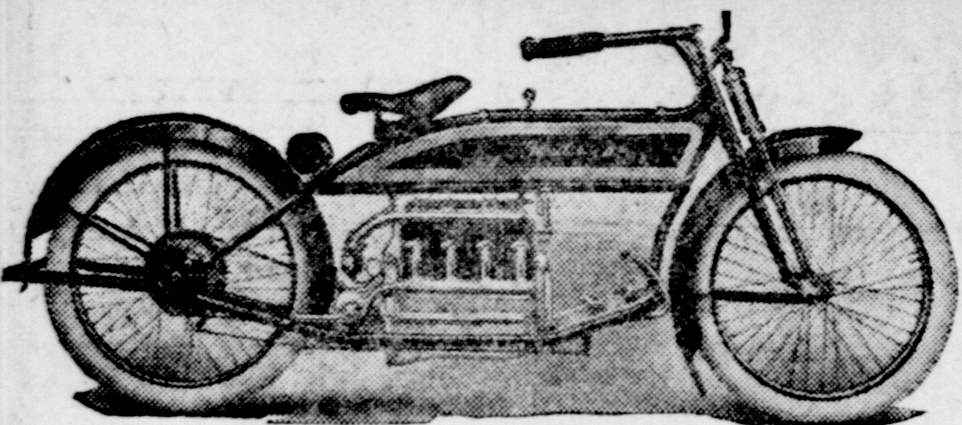

The ice pack above the bridge which was expected to break today, is intact, owing to the cold snap. The extremely warm spell with the freeze coming so quickly has caused havoc among the boat houses which are moored along the banks of the river. The houses stayed on the ice when it went to the bottom of the river along the banks, and if the water freezes again they may be badly damaged.

ALBERT BUELOW DIES ON NORTH RIDGE

Albert Buelow, 75 years of age, died at his home in North Ridge yesterday, after a short illness. Death was caused by apoplexy. He is survived by a wife and several children.

SPOTLIGHTS

Forever traversing the highways and waterways, the by-ways and out-of-the-ways, scaling mountain heights or sky scrapers or delving into long buried ruins, and always alive and alert to secure what is new, and of absorbing interest, is the busy task of Lyman H. Howe's photographers whose latest triumphs will be presented at the La Crosse theater Saturday and Sunday, March 22 and 23, with a Sunday matinee.

It is needless to mention in detail the more than abundant program they have secured. Any attempt to analyze it would require columns of space. Suffice it to say, that it is a wonderful pictorial record of present day life the world over. The genuine beauty and dignity of the entire program are such that it cannot fail to delight those of us who have to stay at home and read and dream. Moreover, it represents an astonishing degree of perfection, especially as regards the reproduction of many of the scenes in the exquisite softness and delicacy of nature's own colors. This important conquest marks a new era for an attraction that has always been rich and unending source of delight to cover 3,000,000 people annually. Its latest development it makes a stronger appeal than ever to the cultivated mind because it represents the highest form of artistic skill that has ever been attained in motion photography. The fidelity with which all the various colors are reproduced is scarcely short of miraculous. The entrancing beauty of the scenes themselves, clothed in the myriad hues and subtle tints of nature, and the infinite variety of the subject matter readily explain why the fame of Mr. Howe's exhibition is extending beyond America. It is because it fulfills the highest destiny in motion photography.

John Drew, the actor, at the age of 55 looks no more than 35. Complimented on this fact, Mr. Drew said: "I try to keep my hair on and my stomach off—that is the true secret of perennial youth."

Then he told one of his famous stories illustrative of the horrors of corpulence.

"A fat man," he said, "could not help laughing one day at the ludicrous appearance of a very bowlegged chap—one of those arch-looking chaps, you know."

"Though a total stranger to him, the fat man slapped the bowlegged chap on the back and said: 'By jingo, brother, you look as if you'd been ridin' a barrel.'"

"The bowlegged man smiled and poked his forefinger deep into the fat man's soft, loose stomach."

"And you look as if you'd been swallowin' one," he said."—Washington Star.

DAY OF WORKING MAN NEARLY HERE

Socialist Lecturer Says but Few Years Needed to Place Them in Power

SLAVES ASSET TO MASTER CLASS

Declares Agriculture Was First Pursuit of Man to Make Social Distinction

"The working man is going back to the place where no intelligence or education is needed, and this is just the place where the capitalist wants him," declared Otto F. Branstetter, who spoke last night at the old Y. M. C. A. building, in the Lyceum course, on "What is Socialism."

According to his argument a man's political belief is influenced by the walk of life that he is in. He said that agriculture was the first thing in history that made a social distinction. The audience was led through the different ages of slavery, down to the day when the Pilgrims landed in New England. Mr. Branstetter showed where slavery would not have been profitable to the New Englanders.

OTTO F. BRANSTETTER

He thoroughly described slavery as it existed in the southern states, and said that the reason it existed there was because it was believed necessary, and that the slaves were an asset to the master class, and not a drawback. He compared the working man of today to the southern slave.

Mr. Branstetter said that the working man or the "wage slave" as he called him, cares too much for the capitalist, in the belief that he could not live without him. In talking for collective ownership of the railroads, he cited those who often say they believe in "government ownership of the railroad, but not of other things."

Mr. Branstetter held that it would make no difference as long as the railroads were run for a profit, whether "Uncle Sam" or "Uncle Rockefeller" owned them. He held that with the enormous interest to be paid should the United States buy the railroads, that it would not be to the interest of the working man.

Mr. Branstetter believes in "universal adult suffrage."

"It will take but a few years at the rate the votes are being given to us now for us to be in power," said Mr. Branstetter.

CATARRH

We are all familiar with our old friend, a cold in the head that comes from anywhere and develops into a chest trouble with an attendant cough, unless properly taken care of promptly.

Few of us in this climate are fortunate enough to escape the aggravating hacking, spitting, dropping in the throat, difficult breathing, foul taste in the mouth, stuffy feeling in the head or full feeling in the throat, according to the severity of the case; but how many of us realize that the "chronic cold" is catarrh and even if we do name the disease, how often do any of us go about a cure for it in the right way?

It is now conceded that catarrh finds its origin in the blood and the cause, therefore, must be removed before the local symptoms will disappear. The persons who are constantly having colds and occasionally let them run into more serious diseases, the acute forms of which are curable in a short time but leave a weakness that makes one susceptible to other things later on, should make an effort to get the kind of treatment that will STRIKE AT THE ROOT OF THE TROUBLE—that is, take medical treatment that will drive out the taint that causes the mucous membranes to be attacked and then they will make some headway toward cure.

Dr. Turbin is in town once a month and from the remarkable cures he has been able to bring about, there is no question but what he is qualified to treat and cure catarrh. Prevent the development of lung trouble, catarrh of the stomach, bronchitis and numerous other maladies by attending to that cause of catarrh at once.

CALLS HOUSE PETS DISEASE CARRIERS

Professor Bretnall Says Cats and Dogs Should Be Penned Up Like Other Stock

WANTS MANURE PILES BOXED UP

Normal School Instructor Tells Methods to Be Used in Stamping Out the Fly-pest

Cats and dogs, especially cats, are disease carriers, and ought to be kept penned up like other livestock, according to the theory of Prof. George H. Bretnall of the state normal school, at the child welfare exhibit yesterday afternoon. To prove his assertion that family pets carry disease, Prof. Bretnall displayed a number of plates of germ cultures which were started by holding the plates against the noses or backs of cats or dogs.

"The trouble is this," said Prof. Bretnall. "The dogs and cats, especially the cats, roam around the neighborhood and pick over garbage piles and other filth. They are bound to pick up germs, and they bring these home. Even the pet of a well-to-do family is likely to be fondled by dirty children and bring home disease germs from them to the clean and well cared for children of careful parents."

Prof. Bretnall also was emphatic in his denunciation of flies. "We cannot over estimate the danger of the fly as a carrier of disease," he said. "Many cases of typhoid have been started when the water supply was absolutely pure. The fly was to blame. Practically every case of summer complaint is due to the fly, and those mothers who deny the child fruit on the theory that the fruit is the cause of the disease are depriving it of just the thing that can cure it."

Prof. Bretnall said that swatting the fly and trapping it were good, but ineffectual in stamping out the pest, because of its fecundity. The only way, he said, to get at the root of the matter and exterminate the insect is to destroy their breeding places. He said they breed mostly in manure piles, and urged that farmers and others keep their manure in fly tight boxes. He said sprinkling kerosene or lime on trash piles was also effectual, but was not practical for the farmer, because it spoiled the value of his fertilizer. Hogs should not be kept penned up, he said, but should be turned into the fields, and cow stables should be treated the same as horse barns.

Following Prof. Bretnall's talk, Mrs. Clara Stathem, assistant superintendent of the state employment bureau, read a paper on "The Child in the Industries," containing a plea for more humane conditions. Dr. Theodore Werle of Milwaukee lectured upon the fly, of the danger and damage he brings and methods of combating him. His lecture was illustrated.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Vain Stag and His Lesson

IT was the hour before bedtime. Daddy smiled as Jack and Evelyn came in.

"Another story, I suppose," he said.

"Of course," the children answered. "And if you haven't thought one up we'll wait."

"Yes," laughed daddy; "I know you are very patient about staying up after your bedtime, but I think I can tell you the story now."

"Once on a time there was a very handsome stag. A stag is a kind of deer that has very big and beautiful horns."

"One day the stag went to the shore of a lake to get a drink. He was very thirsty, and he drank deeply. When he had got enough to drink he stood and stared into the lake. The water served him for a mirror. In it he could see a picture of himself."

"What a fine fellow I am," he murmured as he looked at his head with its graceful horns. "There isn't such another set of strong horns in the forest. With them to protect me I need fear no one."

"Then the stag's eyes wandered to his legs, which were very long and slender, and to his feet that ended in hoofs."

"Oh, dear," he cried, "what ugly legs and feet! If only they were better formed! The legs are nothing but bone and hide." And he lifted up his voice and bayed with disgust.

"Now, it happened the hunters were out in the forest, and when they heard the bay of the stag they turned their horses' heads in the direction of the lake. The hounds, too, had heard the stag and came flying toward the water with tongues hanging out of their mouths and their eyes blazing with fury."

"When the stag saw them he stood for a moment, too frightened to run. Then he turned, and his long slender legs carried him swiftly into the forest. Soon the hounds and the hunters were left far behind."

"In his terror he ran into the very thickest part of the woods, and the long horns of which he had been so proud caught in the vines and branches."

"In vain he tried to get them loose. His head ached from his struggles. For some hours he stood there a prisoner, and had the hounds passed that way he would soon have been dead."

"At last he managed to break away from the vines, and as he trotted off he murmured, 'There, the legs of which I was ashamed saved my life when I was in trouble, while the horns that I thought so fine were the means of getting me in trouble, which might have meant my death if the dogs had come this way.'

MACMILLAN FAVORS EIGHT HOUR DAY FOR MAYOR
You, Mr. Taxpayer, are about to hire a man. You call him your
"mayor," but he's merely the man
you hire to be foreman of your other hired help at the city hall. You hire this foreman to oversee the work of the men who run your city
for you.
There are five applicants for the job. They all make a lot of promises, and they will all work for the same salary.
But four of these five men who want to be foreman of your city hall
crew are willing to work only TWO HOURS A DAY.
The other man who wants to be
your foreman says he will work
EIGHT HOURS A DAY.
As a business proposition, what are you going to do about it? Dan MacMillan is the man who promises
to work eight hours a day.
You see, Mr. MacMillan says he believes in the eight hour day, and that he is willing to put in as many hours a day as the man who runs the engine or drives the sprinkler or shovels in the street.

THE SKIRT WITH A TRAIN
The Association of Dressmakers
recently held a convention and passed a resolution favoring a return of the train skirt, that is to say the old fashioned sort of skirt that used to drag along on the sidewalk causing pedestrians to hop about and skid madly in all directions to prevent stepping on it and losing their equilibrium.
There is one feature of the train skirt which will recommend it, and one only, from a public standpoint.
The train is very useful in sweeping the sidewalks and picking up the stray banana skins, chewing gum wrappers and microbes. From the standpoint of the individual wearing it, the train skirt is a menace. A woman with one of these sidewalk
sweepers is apt to lug home enough microbes to supply her whole family with almost any disease the various members may choose and have a few microbes left over to float out on the breeze and infect the near neighbors.

However, there is little likelihood that the train skirt idea will appeal to the fashionable young woman. She has adopted a right skirt, one that must be put on and removed with a shoe horn, and "the worst of it is,
she likes it." After years of experiment, the woman of today has found
a skirt which not only appeals to her,
but at the same time appeals to the passerby. In aggravated cases the skirts are so tight that the girls are unable to help with the housework.
It begins to appear as though the tight skirt has come to stay and any effort of the dressmakers' union to change the style to the old fashioned train effect will meet with wide condemnation.

TAXING PRESS AGENT SALARIES

If the proposed income tax should become a reality, it is going to lead
to some embarrassing complications.
There are some people in this country who get enormous salaries in the newspapers but who receive quite modest remuneration in private life. It is just a question, of course, whether the income tax will be based upon press agent stories or upon the individual's own sworn statement. There is hardly a musical comedy actress on the boards
who does not, according to the press
agent, get enough money each week
for her modest endeavors to enable her to run four or five limousines
and take champagne baths every morning.
Will the actor or singer who gets $5,000 a week in the press notices,
step up to the rack and pay an income tax on $5,000 or will he swear before the board of review that the press agent is a prevaricator to the extent of about $4,900 a week? There are a lot of $5,000 and $10,000 baseball players prowling around the major leagues every year, according to the joyous baseball press agent. A baseball player who is credited with a $10,000 salary benefits from this reputation whether he gets the money or not, but the question is whether he will pay the income tax
on his newspaper salary or demand
the right to pay a tax on what he actually receives. Then there is the trust manager who gets $100,000 a year on paper and the surgeon who performs $50,000 operations.
Whatever comes of the income tax proposition, the vast majority of citizens will not need to worry, but the proposed tax may throw some light
upon the padded professional salary
which has come to be an institution in the realm of publicity literature.

GIVE FRIEDMANN
CURE FAIR TRIAL

"I am on the field of battle, and I am sure our cause will win. Here
I stay and fight."
That may be mock heroics on the part of Dr. Friedmann, who is attempting to demonstrate that he has discovered a cure for tuberculosis.
However, if he has a cure he will have to "stay and fight" to win.
We believe that humanity must forever endorse the stand taken by so many doctors that it is wrong to recognize the Friedmann treatment
as a cure until it has been demonstrated that it is a cure. To awake hope in the minds of thousands of victims of the dread disease, only to dash them again into despair, would be criminal. That is the malignant feature of the press agent methods that Dr. Friedmann has pursued.
On the other hand nothing could be more reprehensible than the conduct of doctors who, in a carping spirit, have interposed obstacles to a fair test of the treatment. That a similar cure has been tried and found wanting, that the doctor's instruments are antiquated, that he withdrew his serum from the German government to prevent a test, are all facts that should be weighed in dealing with the situation. But no fact is being enough to justify failure to promote the best possible conditions for a fair test of the "cure." This is a fact to which the better class of physicians are wide awake.

His Future
When we observe the baby's brow,
As only dippy parents can,
We know that he is going to be
A scientist when he's a man.
But when we hear the baby sing,
In dead of night and reach high C,
We know beyond the slightest doubt
A noted singer he will be.

Then when we note his pudgy fist,
We figure that the little scamp
Is going to grow up with a punch
And be a pugilistic champ.

But when we look upon his face,
And note expressions lurking
there,
We know for sure he's going to be
An actor quite beyond compare.

But still you cannot always tell
A kid's career by just his looks.
He may turn out an auctioneer,
Or he, alas may peddle books.

Slang as a College Product
"Speaking of culture as a legiti-mate college product, I am reminded of the story of a clergyman and his wife who were attending the commencement exercises at a certain college for girls.
"I approve of higher education for women," said the divine with greatunction, "because of the refinement, the culture, it inevitably fosters in the minds of our young women, and which is so manifest today in all the exercises." Just then a sweet girl graduate came rushing across the campus, waving her diploma frantically aloft and crying in a shrill treble: "Through, b' gosh!"
—Suburban Life.

Away He Went
It was out in Elizabeth township.
The tramp sidled up the walk, after looking around carefully. He knocked, and the lady of the house came out and looked him over.
"Madam, I'm traveling around the world."
"Um."
"Walking around the world on a wager."
"Um."
"I have to make good time or I'll lose my bet."
The lady relaxed the grimness of her face just a trifle.
"Well," said she, "I don't mind letting my bulldog pace you for a couple of miles. Here, Tige!"
When last seen the pair were making very good time.—Exchange.

More Than Nine Years Dirty
While the agent was selling farm machinery at the house the friend at the gate held his horse, and a conversation took place with the small boy of the family.
With grave incredulity he was saying: "Are you sure you are only 9 years old? I think there must be some mistake."
The boy was positive, but, to make sure, "Ma?" he called, "ain't I just 9 years old?"
"Yes, son."
After a time he ventured: "Say, mister, what made you think I was more than 9 years old?"
"Why," said the stranger, "I couldn't understand how you could get so dirty in nine years."—Christian Herald.

An Awful Well
Jerry J. Cohan tells this one: "In a small southern town where 'The Four Cohans' played years ago the family was being conveyed from the railway station to the only hotel in a rickety landau drawn by an equally rickety horse and driven by an aged negro, who deemed it his duty to acquaint his patrons with all the gossip of the community. It seemed that the town had recently acquired an artesian well, and water of which had been analyzed and found
to contain a great deal of ammonia.
This is how the colored Jehu described this all important event:
"We're done got an artillary well
heah, an' las' week dey scandalized
de watah an' found it plum full of hyderphobia!"

More Than Was Called For
The old tombstone, in the quaint fashion of its kind, implored the passenger to pause and drop a tear; and no sooner had the beautiful girl
read the inscription than she began to weep. But her mother reproved her.
"Cecelia," she exclaimed, "why
can you not have more restraint?
You are requested merely to drop a tear, and here you have burst into several!"—Puck.

"But Marsh, it was just a silly sentimental fancy! Oh, why did I tell you!"
"Yes, why did you tell me?" he stormed.
"Because I thought it would make it easier for you to confess to me—"
"Confess to you? I've nothing to confess—I've loved you honestly! Did you think I'd been carrying on some nasty sneaking intrigue with a friend's wife—did you think I was that sort of a fellow—the sort of a fellow North is? Do you take me for a common blackguard?"
"Marsh, don't! Marshall, please—for my sake—" and she clung to him, but he cast her off roughly.
"Keep away from me!" he said
with sullen repression, but there was a murderous light in his eyes.
"Don't touch me!" he warned.
"But say you forgive me!"
"Forgive you—?" He laughed.
"Yes, forgive me—Marsh!"
"Forgive you—no, by God!"
He reached for the bottle.
"Not that—not that, Marsh;
your promise only a moment ago—
your promise, Marsh!"
But he poured himself half a tumbler of whisky and emptied it at a swallow.
"To hell with my promise!" he said, and strode from the room.

CHAPTER ELEVEN.
In Chicago Conklin found an angry young man at police headquarters, and the name of this young man was John North.
"This is a most damnable outrage!" he cried hotly the moment
he espied Mount Hope's burly sheriff.
"I am mighty sorry to have interfered with your plans, John—just mighty sorry." The sheriff's tone was meant to soothe and conciliate. "But you see we are counting on you to throw some light on the McBride murder."
"So that's it! I tell you, Conklin,
I consider that I have been treated with utter discourtesy; I've been a virtual prisoner here overnight!"
"That's too bad, John," said the sheriff sympathetically, "but we didn't know where a wire would reach you, so there didn't seem any other way than this—"
"Well, what do you want with me?" demanded North, with rather less heat than had marked his previous speech.
"They got the idea back home
that you can help in the McBride
matter," explained the sheriff
again. "I see that you know he's been murdered."
"Yes, I knew that before I left Mount Hope," rejoined North.
"Did you, though?" said the sheriff briefly, and this admission of North's appeared to furnish him
with food for reflection.
"Well, what do I know that will be of use to you?" asked North impatiently.
"You ain't to make any statements to me, John," returned the sheriff hastily.
"Do you mean you expect me to go back to Mount Hope?" inquired North in a tone of mingled wonder and exasperation.
The sheriff nodded.
"That's the idea, John," he said
placidly.
"What if I refuse to go back?"
The sheriff looked pained.
"Oh, you won't do that—what's the use?"
"Do you mean—" began North savagely, but Conklin interposed.
"Never mind what I mean, that's a good fellow; say you'll take the next train back with me; it will save a lot of bother!"
"But I strongly object to return to Mount Hope!" said North.
"By reasonable—" urged the sheriff.
"This is an infernal outrage!"

cried North.
"I'm sorry, John, but make it easy for me, make it easy for yourself; we'll have a nice friendly trip
and you will be back here by the first of the week."
For a moment North hesitated.
He had so many excellent reasons
why he did not wish to return to Mount Hope, but he knew that there was something back of Mr.
Conklin's mild eye and yet milder
speech.
"Well, John?" prompted the sheriff encouragingly.
"I suppose I'll go with you," said
North grudgingly.
"Of course you will," agreed the
sheriff.
He had never entertained any doubts on this point.
It was ten o'clock Saturday morning when North and the sheriff left the east-bound express at Mount Hope and climbed into the bus that was waiting for them.
North's annoyance had given
place to a certain humorous appreciation of the situation. His plans had gone far astray in the past forty-eight hours, and here he was back in Mount Hope. Decidedly his return, in the light of his parting with Elizabeth, was somewhat in the nature of an anticlimax.
They were driven at once to the court-house. There in his office they found Moxlow with the corner,
and North was instantly aware of restraint in the manner of each as they greeted him, for which he could not account.
"Sit down, North," said Moxlow,
indicating a chair.
"Now what is it?" North spoke pleasantly as he took his seat. "I've been cursing you two all the way home from Chicago."
"I am sorry you were subjected to any annoyance in the matter,
but it couldn't be helped," said Moxlow.
"I'm getting over my temper," replied North. "Fire away with your questions."
The prosecuting attorney glanced
at his fellow official.
"You are already acquainted with the particulars of the shocking
tragedy, that has occurred here,"
said Taylor with ponderous dignity.
"Yes," said North soberly. "And when I think of it, I am more than willing to help you in your search for the guilty man."
"You knew of the murder before you left town?" remarked Moxlow casually.
"Yes."
"But you weren't on the Square
or in the store Thanksgiving
night?" said Moxlow.
"No, I dined with General Herbert." The prosecuting attorney elevated his eyebrows. "I must have been on my way there when the crime was discovered; I was returning home perhaps a little after eleven when I met a man who stopped me to tell me of the murder—"
"You were with Mr. McBride on Thanksgiving afternoon, were you not?" Moxlow now asked.
"Yes."
"What was the hour, can you
state?"
"About half past four, I should say; certainly no later than that. I went there on a matter of business,
to dispose of some bonds Mr. Mc-Bride had agreed to take off my

Breaks the Fetters That Bind Men.

Hundreds Here Know It.

"Break away from that ailment or complaint that unfits you for business or pleasure. You cannot expect the fullest enjoyment or pleasure in life fettered to a 'drag,'" says an eminent physician, writing to a prominent business man in this city. "Break the fetters that bind you! Throw them off. Begin a new life today—now. Regulate the hours of sleep. Choose carefully your food. Read cheerful inspiring papers and books. Let the following prescription be used regularly for several weeks or months and all such symptoms as these will vanish: Dull, sunken eyes; cold extremities, backache, headache, sleeplessness, thinness (or over fat), weakness in the spine, twitching, spots before the eyes, pains in back of head, trembling, fatigue, despondency, impaired memory, loss of appetite, flabby muscles, shrinking skin, constipation, kidney disorders and a general restlessness and inability to do important duties when they should be done."

For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Leading druggists supply the main tinctures, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles, ready to mix. Get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound, mix with one ounce compound fluid balsam, and stand two hours. Add one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.

Gray hairs in Wall Street. "It seemed to me down in New York the other day," remarked a Cleveland who had just returned from the metropolis, "that one might almost recognize Wall street and the financial region by the number of gray haired young men you see. I had occasion to be in several offices on Wall street the other day, and I honestly believe more than half of the young men I saw had gray hair. I noticed the same thing along the street. It may have been just a coincidence, but I couldn't help wondering if they would have been gray just as soon if they had been at some other game for the last few years."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Pat's Remedy.

Irish wit is a well head that has never been known to run dry. Pat Maguire had been misbehaving and appeared before his commanding officer charged for the third time with drunkenness.

Pat stated his side of the case with all the eloquence at his command, but the colonel was unmoved.

"Eight days in the guardhouse," he said sternly.

But in writing the "8" on Pat's default sheet the pen spluttered. Pat noticed this and leaned forward.

"Thy if 'twill make a '3' any slier, sorr," he suggested in a persuasive whisper.

NELSON FUNERAL HELD TOMORROW

Fireman Killed in Wreck Expected to Attend Sister's Party Night of Accident

The funeral of Newton Nelson of 2036 Kane street, who was killed in a wreck near Hokah yesterday morning, will be held tomorrow afternoon from the home at 2 o'clock, and at the Tabernacle Baptist church at 2:30. Rev. Howard Leonard will officiate. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

Mr. Nelson was a member of the Masons, the Yeomen and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. He was the oldest son of Mrs. Alma Nelson. He is survived by his mother, and two sisters, Misses Haldee and Alice. Three brothers survive, Joe, Ross and Friend.

A sad feature of the death of Mr. Nelson was the preparations which were made to entertain him at a birthday party held in honor of his sister, Alice, on Thursday night, when he was expected to return from his fatal run.

When he did not return at the usual time, several dainties were laid on the kitchen table in his home for him, his sisters thinking that he was only delayed, and that he would come in later and eat them.

A few years ago Joel Nelson, a brother, met with an accident on the Milwaukee railroad in which he lost his right arm.

the legislature pass this bill and I venture to say not a house of ill-fame
will be left in Wisconsin forty-eight hours after the governor signs it,"
said Attorney H. B. Wainwright of Milwaukee, addressing the public welfare committee yesterday on the Frederick bill providing for the forfeiture by the state of such properties. He said the bill, if passed, would prove the solution in a large degree of the vice problem in cities.From the lawyer's point of view he said the bill was complete and would stand the test. With such a law he said no man would dare to permit
his property to be used for immoral
purposes.BOUNDARY BOARD

DISCUSS "PURE AD" BILL

MADISON, Wis., March 15.—(Special.)—What was described by its advocates as a bill to "wipe out the dishonest advertiser" was discussed
before the assembly printing committee yesterday afternoon. Representatives of leading retail merchants' associations and of the Wisconsin Daily League urging its passage. The bill, by Assemblyman Paul Nig, prescribes penalties for printing untrue, misleading and deceptive advertisements.For Freckled, Rough or Spotty Complexions

(From The Dermatologist.)

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins
are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early spring, may readily be gotten rid of.
Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing
freckles or other cutaneous defects.
Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion,
and one soon acquires a brand new,
spotless, girlishly beautiful face.Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution of powdered saxolite, one ounce dissolved in a half pint of water. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous
transformation.RELIABLE WATCHES AT

STATEMENT OF ORI J. SORENSEN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

A primary election in a non-partisan campaign necessitates the making of a personal statement to the voters. To do this, may be embarrassing, inasmuch as such a statement is often construed as egotistical. I feel however, that a brief explanation as to my candidacy is due to the people of the city of La Crosse, and therefore permissible.

I served as Mayor for the city of La Crosse from May 1909 to May 1911. During that period, we attempted to promote the interests of La Crosse at all times, and in every manner conformable to good business policy. We carried out the progressive policies that had been inaugurated in previous administrations and started new ones. It was my desire then, and will again be in the future, should I be nominated and elected, to manage the affairs of the city of La Crosse from a purely business standpoint. I believe that it is a fair statement to say that my past connection with city affairs has made me thoroughly familiar with the needs and requirements of the city in all its departments, and also with what the municipal budgets ought to contain.

If elected to office, I shall do, as I endeavored to do in the past, to enforce all laws pertaining to the health of our inhabitants, and procure sanitary conditions in the city.

I shall in the future, as I have in the past, stand behind our educational system, and so promote our schools in equipment and otherwise, as will make our school system second to none in the state.

I shall eliminate extravagance in administration, and my past experience in building lines ought to enable me to better subserve the interests of the city in the construction work now in progress, than any of my opponents.

I feel that many of our streets that were permanently paved some years ago, are deteriorating by reason of neglect and want of repair, and should be repaired at once in order to prevent their utter destruction. It will be the policy of the administration to maintain and preserve the streets, public buildings and public utilities, before advocating the expenditure of money in extensions or new enterprises.

It is my conviction that the moral situation in the city of La Crosse has been neglected, and if dealt with at all, has been dealt with from the wrong view-point. There is no reason and ought to be none, why young girls and boys should be permitted to go to ruin on our streets, or in some of our public places, and if elected to office, I pledge all of my efforts to bring about a change in this condition.

I believe that the progressive spirit which obtains in state and national government at the present time, ought to obtain in our municipal affairs. All of the business conducted by the municipality, should be conducted in the open, and the public should be taken into the confidence of the administration. The spirit of good-will should obtain among our citizens and the government should be so conducted that every citizen, be he rich or poor, may have an opportunity of having his grievances heard, if he has any, with the assurance that his rights and interests will be carefully guarded.

My record as a business man of many years' standing in the city of La Crosse, as well as a public officer, is open to inspection. I have treated every man courteously and honestly in both capacities, and if elected shall do so in the future.

It has been intimated from certain sources that I might not give sufficient of my time to the performance of the duties of the office. In this regard, I desire to say that I am familiar with the duties of that office, and am in a position to give all of the time necessary to their proper fulfillment.

I base my candidacy, not on the weakness of my opponents, but on the basis of familiarity with the office, and its requirements, and my record as former Mayor, business man and citizen.

ORI J. SORENSEN.

PLAN DEDICATION OF SOLDIER SHAFT

Cronon Prepares to Place Documents at Base of Cemetery Post
Monument

In preparation for the dedication of the "Old Soldiers Monument" which will be dedicated in Oak Grove cemetery next Memorial Day by the Wilson-Colwell Post No. 83 G. A. R., Judge Edward Cronon today procured a copper box for the papers which will be placed in the base of the granite shaft. The full roster of the post together with copies of the La Crosse newspapers and other documents will be placed in the box and sealed against time.

The monument, which will be one of the most beautiful in the cemetery, will cost $1,250, the largest amount of which was contributed by the members of the Wilson-Colwell post. It will be a towering shaft of granite bearing a life size figure of a Union Civil War soldier at "parade rest" looking out over the "soldier's lot" in the cemetery.

Assemblyman C. L. Hood will be the principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies.

BUCHANAN FUNERAL

MAY BE RUDE TO PROLONG WAR

Thought Federation Would Put Off Peace Until Adrianople and Scutari Fall

LONDON, March 15.—An informal conference of the ambassadors of the powers was called for this afternoon at the foreign office by Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs, to consider the reply of the Balkan allies to the powers offer to mediate in the war against Turkey.

The indemnity demands of the allies are regarded as exorbitant, while to fix the eastern boundary of ceded territory at Rodosto, as demanded by Bulgaria would bring the Bulgarian frontier down to the sea of Marmara, cut off Gallipoli from Constantinople and weaken the Dardanelles as a defense of Turkey in Asia.

Also it is believed the powers will not consent to all the Aegean islands being taken from Turkey, as the Greeks demand.

Advices from Vienna, Sofia and Constantinople today said that the allies were confident that Adrianople and Scutari would fall in a very short time. It is believed here that the allies have purposely made demands that the powers will contest in order to stave off a formal peace conference until Adrianople and Scutari have fallen.

Man for Prosperous
City

"There seems to be a feeling that a man who has other business interests cannot devote the necessary time to the duties of mayor," said W. F. Adams. "This feeling is well grounded, for in the past two hours a day was considered ample. I agree with my friends that little or nothing can be accomplished in such a short period of time."

"Much capital is being made of the fact that one of the candidates will devote all of his time to this office. I wish to say that I am seeking this office with the idea of making the very most of it, and if necessary I will devote twenty-four hours a day to making this city a good place to live in, in spite of the efforts of the corporation ring to the contrary."

"The appeal of the corporation men to the laboring men is something that must be looked at in many different lights. Answer this question for yourselves: Can a corporation man, who has all his life been associated with the moneyed interests, be anything but partial to the class of people with whom he has worked? Can he intelligently help the laboring man, about whose conditions he knows little or nothing, and with whom he has never associated?"

"Granted that these men have business ability, and that they are sincere in making these promises, is it possible for them to understand or appreciate the problems of a class that they know nothing about?"

"Mr. Working Man, these questions are put up to you. You must answer them next Tuesday. You must use your head as well as your vote. If you vote right, you will never regret it, but if you vote for an administration that will strangle the city, commercially, morally and politically, you will have no one to blame but yourselves."

"Cast your ballot for the man who is a working man, who understands the problems of the working man, and who has built his business on the foundation of the Square Deal."

Yours for Mayor,
W. F. ADAMS.

REV. ANDERSON TO STAY IN LA CROSSE

Declines Call to Everett,
Wash., Because of Congregation's Urgent Request to Remain

Because of the insistent appeal from the members of his congregation, a large number of whom called on him in person to urge him to remain in La Crosse, Rev. Rasmus Andersen, pastor of the St. Paul's Norwegian Lutheran church, today announced that he has decided to decline the call made by a large church in Everett, Wash., and will remain at the head of his church here. Rev. Andersen has served the St. Paul's pastorate of La Crosse well and faithfully for more than twenty years and as soon as it became known that he was considering the acceptance of the call from Everett a strong movement of protest was begun. He has officiated at the christening, marriage and burial services required in every family as long as most of his congregation can remember and his loss would be felt most keenly.

Rev. Andersen returned last week from a trip in the west during which he visited the church in Everett which had desired his services. Although most favorably impressed with the possibilities of the new field, he found the ties that bound him to La Crosse too strong to break.

CANNON SCORES DEMS

"UNCLE JOE" ACCUSES DEMOCRATS OF EXTRAVAGANCE AND FITZGERALD LAUDS ECONOMY

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Appropriations during the last session of congress, including vetoed bills, aggregated $1,098,647,960, according to statements issued by Chairman Fitzgerald and Former Representative Cannon of the house appropriations committee. Fitzgerald praised the democrats for their economy. Cannon, in his last statement as a member of congress, flayed the democrats for their "ill-considered extravagances."

Fitzgerald recommended that budget committee hereafter have charge of all appropriations. Cannon said the budget scheme was impracticable and advised the return to the former "czar system" of house rules by which the speaker appoints all committees.

Chief Hollow Horn Bear of Sioux Tribe Goes to Happy Hunting

WAS KNOWN AS "GOOD INDIAN"

Visited "Great White Father" to Take Part in Parade at the Inauguration

WASHINGTON, March 15.—Hollow Horn Bear, chief of the Sioux Indians, died today in the capital of his "Great White Father." Far from his tepee and his prairie in Rosebud, S. D., the aged brave, who came here to offer the chief executive the pledge of peace of his people, turned his eyes toward the happy hunting grounds and, smiling, went to sleep.

In a little hotel on Pennsylvania avenue, stolid and silent today sat a group of Indians who came here for the inaugural parade with their chief mutterings in sorrowful gutters over the death of the man they loved and revered. For Hollow Horn Bear was more than a chieftain of the Sioux. He was known as "the best of good Indians."

For a week Hollow Horn Bear had battled with pneumonia. For a time yesterday it looked as though he would win out. He rallied temporarily when gray-haired Captain William H. Wilcox, who, thirty-seven years ago fought against Hollow Horn Bear and earned the chief's respect and admiration, came on especially from New York to see his friend. The Sioux leader at one time saved Wilcox's life.

WEEK FINANCIAL

Bank Statement
NEW YORK, March 15.—The weekly actual bank statement issued today showed the following changes:
Surplus, increase $5,863,200.
Loans, decreased $22,201,000.
Specie, decreased $1,317,000.
Legals, increased $1,131,000.
Deposits, decreased $25,202,000.
Circulation, increased $32,000.
Surplus, reserve $9,237,450.

NEW YORK, March 15.—Today's stock market was altogether negligible in fact some usually active stocks were practically not dealt in at all. Net changes were therefore of slight importance, after two hours of trivial fluctuations. The apathy was entirely natural, in view of the fact that two developments of great interest to the market, the character of the weekly bank return, and the attitude of the circuit court at St. Louis towards the Union Pacific's new proposals—were entirely unknown up to the close of business.

Sterling exchange advanced rather sharply. The feeling seemed to be that more gold will go out next week, but doubts as to Berlin's ability to draw as it wishes on our stock of gold, found rather more general impression. The week-end summaries of the country's bank exchanges; the gross return of our railways, and the forecasts of the mercantile trade reviews were once more favorable.

The principal and immediate cause for the weakness in our market is unquestionably the financial disturbance in Europe.

Mr. J. E. Zimmer,
La Crosse Motor Car Co.,
City.

Dear Sir:

In reply to your inquiry "WHY I BOUGHT A CADILLAC," will say my first car was a 1906 so-called one lugger, which is still giving first class service. This car you recommended to me very highly, glad to say my confidence was not misplaced. I, therefore, purchased a 1913 model and after driving same, can cheerfully say that I am more than satisfied that any car at any price which you choose to compare with the CADILLAC will be honored by the comparison. Your representation deserves more than passing mention for uniform courtesy and evident desire to see that every CADILLAC owner is proud of his car.

Yours very truly,

RIDING WITH A GOOD DRIVER EDUCATIONAL

Driver Learns to Anticipate Trouble and Takes No Chances; Novice to Learn Quiet Driving

(From Motor Print)

A run with a good driver is indeed educational. First of all comes the preliminary look around the car in the garage (no chauffeur). The engine is started and allowed to run quietly for a short time till it gets warm (no racing of the engine). The driver mounts, lets in No. 1 gear, and without accelerating slips in the clutch quietly. The car then moves off without a tremor. After a revolution or two of the wheels No. 2 gear is meshed and after meshing a little more throttle is used. A similar process follows with gears Nos. 3 and 4. The passenger is absolutely unconscious of anything going on except that the car increases in speed quietly and without fuss. Proceeding a little further the driver, on the level, tests both hand and side brakes and is satisfied that all is well. The controls are then set, ignitions as far advanced as possible, as much extra air is given as the engine will take without chattering.

Obstruction may appear presently, says 30 or 40 rods away. Without touching the clutch pedal, but throttling down, the driver gently applies the foot brake. This, of course, neither chatters nor is fierce; it brakes softly. The speed of the car is diminished by about five m. p. m., and thus, without having banged right up to the obstruction, lunged out the clutch and jammed on the brakes at the expense of tires and mechanism, the car reaches the obstruction when the obstruction has cleared away, to use an Irishism.

Clutch Must be Removed
The text books tell us, of course, that we must not use a brake without taking out the clutch. Quite good, but the closing of the throttle with the clutch in has done nothing further than to add a slight retarding effect, partly relieving the brake.

Reaching a hill we ascend for some distance on top gear, and before the slightest suspicion of flagging of the engine occurs we drop to No. 3 gear. The engine takes up well and the hill is surmounted. From the crest we see a rather deep descent, so for safety No. 2 gear is used, and without touching the brakes we are landed on the level again.

The run home is without incident, excepting, perhaps, for a stray dog and an unprotected infant on the highway. Both are quite safe, however, for our driver has learned to anticipate trouble of this kind, and takes no chances—by the same rule that the man who carries most spares usually has no need of them.

Car Runs Smoothly
The remark is sometimes made by a passenger, after occupying a seat in the car, "How smoothly So-and-so's car runs." This is simply a left-handed compliment to the driver, for, no matter how good the machinery may be, a bad driver will convey the impression that all is not just as it should be.

The attitude also of those in authority—the Great Unpaid, for example—must be considered. It is the fashion at present to mulct and harass the motorist as much as possible. Has not a modern solon in his wisdom stated from the bench that the motorist has least right of way on the road?

The prospective purchaser should see that the power of his car is proportionate to the weight that will have to be propelled. It is unkind to ask 12 horsepower to carry an omnibus-like body and five to seven people, and have the largest section possible fitted, thus avoiding swaying and bumping on uneven roads, with discomfort to passengers and an entirely uncalled for wear of machinery. "The evil that men do lives after them" is as applicable to motorists as it was to Julius Caesar. The driver must remember that the "thrill" is only too well remembered by his passengers, and quite overtops the recollection of the otherwise perfectly happy and safe man.

MARATHON CARS ARE MADE IN SOUTH

Southern Field Is Exceptionally Rich in Prospects for Medium Priced Cars

The profitable marketing of the automobile in the south is a selling problem with which all sales managers of the different automobile concerns are contending. This problem has been produced by conditions in the south differing from those in other sections and has been brought about by a misconception on the part of the automobile manufacturer of the conditions that exist in this territory. There are too many manufacturers who have felt that the southern market was an easy one. This market has been looked upon very much in the same light as a number of the American manufacturers have looked upon the foreign market. They have felt that each of these markets offered an excellent opportunity to dispose of out-of-date stock and old models; consequently this idea of the southern market has proven costly to a number of automobile factories.

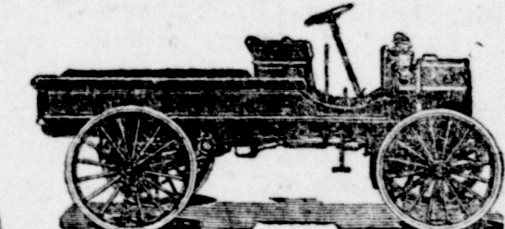

The purchasing power of the southern farmer (and this is the trade to which automobile dealers most cater) is almost beyond conception. More than 90 per cent of the southern farmers are amply able to buy automobiles at an average price of $1,250. This has reference to the land owner and not the illiterate white renter and the negro population. The large number of illiterates and negroes in the south accounts for the fact that the per capita distribution of automobiles is less than in other sections.

The south not only offers the manufacturer great selling opportunities, but offers ideal manufacturing conditions. The only automobile factory in the south has pushed itself forward to where it ranks among the fifteen largest automobile factories in America. This is the Marathon factory.

CADILLAC STARTS ON SPARK AFTER FIVE WEEKS

Although the Cadillac was the first motor car to be equipped with an automatic electric cranking device, the remark has frequently been made that it was the car which least needed such a device for the reason that it so frequently started by the spark. Reports received by the Cadillac company indicate that it is not an uncommon occurrence for a Cadillac owner to run his car for several weeks without starting his engine by any means other than "by the spark."

Numerous instances have been recorded of cars starting by the spark after being in transit for several weeks, the perfect fit of the pistons and piston rings in the cylinders holding the charge of gas. The most recent report was that made by the Begg Motor company, Cadillac dealers in Vancouver, B. C. The car left the factory on December 24, after having its gasoline tank drained. It was held up by the storms in the mountains, arriving in Vancouver January 27, being in transit five weeks. When the car was unloaded, the ignition switch was closed and the engine started without being cranked, the charge of gas having been retained in the cylinders from the time the car left the factory.

LOVE LETTERS OF GENERAL PICKETT

Suffolk, May 5, 1863.
Hoping, my darling, that you heeded your soldier's admonition, took his advice, and are now safe across the "Black Water," I am taking the risk of sending to you at Liverpool, by my boy servant, Bob, a little box of dainties and a note filled with adoration.

My orders to follow Hood's division have been countermanded. Hood was hurried on from the "Black Water" by rail to rejoin Marse Robert, who has just gained a great victory at Chancellorsville. I am ordered instead to proceed at once with three of my bridges to Petersburg, via the "Jerusalem-Plank-road," to intercept a cavalry raid.

Perhaps, my darling, I shall have met these raiders as this reaches you. Who knows how many of us may then hear the roll call from the other side and be sorry? But sorry for whom? For the comrades who answer to their names and are reported present, or for those whose spirit voices, just born, have not yet gained the power to reach the ear of the orderly and who are reported dead, even though they, too, answer, "Here?" For, my darling, there is no death, and you must feel—there is now and always, that whether here or there, at the roll call your soldier answers, "Here."

Now, adieu, my beloved. Close your brown eyes and feel my arms around you, for I am holding you close—oh, so close!

Forever, your own loving

Written When Lee Crossed the Potomac

June 18th, 1863.

Each day, my darling, takes me farther and farther away from you, from all I love and hold dear. We have been guarding the passes of the Blue Ridge. Today, under orders from Marse Robert, we cross the Potomac. McLaws' and Hood's divisions and the three brigades of my division follow on after Hill. May our Heavenly Father bless us with an early and a victorious return. But even then, the price of it—the price of it, my little one—the blood of our countrymen! God in His mercy temper the wind to us!

As I returned the salute of my men, many of them beardless boys, the terrible responsibility as their commander almost overwhelmed me, and my heart was rent in prayer for guidance and help. Oh, the desolate homes—the widows and orphans and heart-broken mothers that this campaign will make! How many of them, so full of hope and cheer now, will cross that other river which lands them at the Eternal Home.

Have faith, my little one: keep up a "skoomum tum-tum" (Chinook for strong heart). Your soldier feels that he will return to claim his bride—his beautiful, glorious bride. And we will be so happy, my darling, and all our days to come, my little one, we will show our loving gratitude to our Father for His mercy in sparing us to each other.

Now, vida de mi alma, how I hate to say it—adieu. Do you remember how many times we said good-bye that last evening? And then as I heard the latch of the gate click and shut me out, I was obliged to go back. I could not stand the cruelty of the sound of that latch—it seemed to knife my soul. I turned back and said "Good night!" The door was open; I came in. You thought I had gone. I can't just remember how many times I said good night that time. I know I did not close the gate as I went out again. Keep another gate open for the good morning, my precious bride-to-be. Oh, the bliss-to-be—the bliss-to-be then for your loving, faithful

SOLDIER.

THE FIRESIDE SERMON

Andrew Jackson, Born March fifteenth, 1767

I. Chronicles, 29, 14.
"But who am I, and what is my people, that we should obtain strength to offer so willingly after this sort?"

Andrew Jackson was president of the United States. He did not contribute any great glory to his office. The limitations of his life were marked. His education was so limited that he never learned to write English correctly. A man can become a great general in fighting Indians, and still have little fitness for serving a nation as chief leader.

The Test of Abraham's faith. Gen. xlii:1-19.

Golden Text—I desire goodness, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings. Hos. vi:6.

(1.) Verse 1—How many meanings are there for the word tempt, and in what sense did God tempt Abraham?

(2.) Abraham had passed through some wonderful tests of his faith; what does it suggest that God tested him still further?

(3.) Would you say or not, and why, that tests of our faith will continue as long as we live?

(4.) Verse 2—Would you say or not that God told Abraham to offer up his son Isaac as a burnt offering, or that Abraham only thought he did? Why?

(5.) Should we in thought allow God the right to tell us to do wrong? Give your reasons.

(6.) If under what seems to be deep religious emotion we feel that God is telling us to lie, steal or violate the Christian standard of virtue, or do anything else which we believe to be wrong, should we obey the feeling or at once banish it as a temptation of the Devil? Why?

(7.) How may we assuredly distinguish the voice of God from every other spiritual influence?

(8.) Verse 3—If we are verily assured that God tells us to do a thing, are we under obligation to do it no matter what the consequences may be? Give your reasons.

(9.) What would you suppose Abraham's thoughts were while on this three days' journey to the place where he was going to kill and then to offer up his son to God as a burnt offering?

(10.) If Abraham were now living, can you conceive of his having a command from God to slay his son?

(11.) Verses 4-6—What would appear to be Abraham's motive in not allowing his servants to accompany him and Isaac to the place of the proposed burnt offering?

(12.) Verses 7-10—It was a custom of the Semitic races to offer up their firstborn, their most loved child, as a sacrifice to God; would you think it probable that Abraham got the suggestion to offer up Isaac from this source? Why?

(13.) Suppose Abraham was mistaken as to the origin of his purpose to offer up Isaac. To what extent would that alter your opinion of the sublimity of his character, and the strength of this test of his faith?

(14.) What reason, if any, is there to suppose that Abraham had informed Isaac of what God had commanded him and that he had consented to be the innocent victim?

(15.) Put yourself in Abraham's place and say how your faith would be tested and how many objections there would be to believe that God had commanded you to offer up your Isaac?

(16.) If Abraham had actually slain and offered up Isaac would he have been the admiration or the execration of Christian people?

(17.) Verses 11-12—What proportion of the dreadful things that sometimes oppress us like a horrible nightmare does God allow to actually happen?

(18.) Why may we rest in the perfect assurance that God will never cause us to do any deed contrary to the law of love?

(19.) Verses 13-19—What does this ram that was caught in the thicket teach us concerning God always coming to our rescue?

(20.) Lesson for Sunday, March 23, 1913. Isaac and Rebekah. Gen. xxiv.

How many people do you know who would not impose on you if they could?

It's a wise cork that knows its own pop.

Why the Judge Was Powerless

The jury, after long deliberation, seemed unable to agree in a perfectly clear case. The judge, thoroughly exasperated at the delay, said: "I discharge this jury." One sensitive juror, indignant at what he considered a rebuke, faced the judge. "You can't discharge me!" he said, with a tone of conviction. "And why not?" inquired the judge in surprise. "Because," announced the juror, pointing to the lawyer for the defense, "I was hired by that man there!"

He Knew

It was the opening of the winter session and the teacher was making up her list of pupils. "Well, my boy," she said to one youth, "what is your name?" "Tom, ma'am," said the boy promptly. "That does not sound well," she said, "you should always give the full name. You should have said 'Thomas.' And what is your name?" she asked, turning to the next boy. Flushed with the consciousness of having learned something new the young man arose and said proudly: "My name is Jackas."

Advice for the Minister

In preaching the minister had been rather long winded, when the young bride remembered that she had left the dinner in the gas range without regulating the flame. She hastily wrote a note and slipped it to her husband, who was an usher. He, thinking it was intended for the minister, calmly walked up and laid it on the pulpit. The minister paused in the midst of his sermon and took the note with a smile which changed into a terrific frown as he read: "Please hurry home and shut off the gas."

CHURCH NEWS

Thousands Spent On Easter Flowers

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent each Easter for flowers for churches, but the amount, even an estimate, is impossible to secure, because so many people, chiefly women, order flowers, pay for them privately, and make no report of the amount. In large cities some wealthy churches spend money directly, but even their outlay is not as great as might be imagined because the use of flowers, not their actual purchase, alone is paid for. The churches get bargains and the public buy the flowers afterwards.

Lilies will be scarce this year, owing to the early date of Easter. They will not be high in price, it is said, because churches use them sparingly. The mass of decoration is white and colored azaleas, chiefly white, with lush palms and a few roses. The latter are increased in favor this year because plenty, and because of the scarcity of lilies.

Conditions of the lily crop in the Bermudas have nothing whatever to do with the supply of lilies for Easter in churches in this country. Some years ago the experiment of bringing blossoms from Bermuda was tried for churches in cities along the Atlantic coast, but it was unsatisfactory. Now bulbs are brought here in August and distributed as far west as the Mississippi river. They are bloomed when needed.

It is an interesting fact that largest demands for flowers for Easter come from extreme northern cities, where flowers are harder to produce at early dates. The Pacific coast fills its own needs, which are not large, and the south does the same. Ninety per cent of the entire Easter market is in the cities from Boston to St. Louis. Detroit and Minneapolis are relatively larger Easter flower markets than almost any other cities.

More Palms Are Now Being Used

The prayer meeting will be held Wednesday evening at the home of Robert W. Gifford, 1427 Avon street. The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Next Sunday, March 23, special Easter services will be held. In the morning at 10:30 an excellent Easter program will be rendered by the choir and the members of the Sunday school and the pastor will preach the Easter sermon in the evening at 7:45. There will be special music at both services.

Evening evangelistic service at 7:30 with sermon by the pastor. Subject, "Jesus Only." Midweek service for praise and prayer every Wednesday evening at 7:30. Business meeting of the church the first Wednesday evening of each month. Covenant meetings are held the last Wednesday evening of each month. The Lord's supper is celebrated the first Sunday of each month at the close of the morning service.

palms by the people on the occasion of Christ's entry into Jerusalem. The sum is steadily increasing because some Episcopal and Lutheran churches are encouraging the use of palms on Palm Sunday, as well as Catholic churches, and because each year more and more benevolently minded and thoughtful people buy palms, have them made into crosses or passion flowers, and send them into wards in hospitals. The use of palms in symbolic shapes for wearing on Palm Sunday and for a day or two thereafter is growing, especially among working men whose duties compel them to work on Sunday.

The supply of palms comes exclusively from Florida, and the cost of them is almost wholly transportation, handling, and in some case storage for a week or a fortnight until used, or until they change from green to a beautiful yellow or pale coral color. New York and vicinity leads in sums expended, paying out about $10,000 each year. Chicago distributes to a wide area and takes about the same number. Cincinnati, Boston, St. Louis, Baltimore and Buffalo are the other largest distributing centers, taking from $5,000 to $5,000 worth each year. Not all are used in the cities named, but go to supply tributary territory. The price in most cities, delivered, is $4 a hundred heads. Not a few women make extra money constructing the crosses and passion flowers for the hospitals. Most dealers send surplus stocks to hospitals. Not general florists, but usually one dealer in a city, sometimes two, handle all.

Association Cares For Jewish Girls

The National Council of Jewish women has just completed its chain of sections and agents in the south through the organization of Jewish women in Galveston, Houston and Dallas in Texas, in Little Rock and Hot Springs, Ark., and the providing of additional secretaries for social service in sections already formed in cities of the south and middle west. The council's purpose, in so far as this new plan is concerned, is the care of Jewish girls coming to America and seeking work and homes in and near these cities. It is claimed that the most perfect system of immigrant protection for girls has been built up by the council.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, March 15.—The stock market opened dull.

11 a. m.—The dullness that marked the opening of the market continued to the end of the first hour. Southern Pacific following reports that the California railroad commission was said to favor it in the dissolution matter, took a brace, showing a tendency to recover from the weakness displayed by it during the last few days.

The stock market closed dull.

Chicago Grain Review
CHICAGO, March 15.—Heavy settling drove wheat to a sharp break today and foreign cables were not encouraging. May wheat dropped 3/4c to a level of 88 1/2c at the close. July sold as low as 88 1/2c but at the close was only 3/4c under the day's opening.

Selling pressure and the decline in wheat influenced the corn pit. May corn was 1/4c under the day's opening at the noon close and July dropped 1/4c.

Heavy selling featured the oats market late in the morning and both May and July broke slightly under this pressure. The two months were makers wherever shown, and many months were down 1/4c each at the close.

Provisions were steady and firm. A slightly easier tendency in the early trading was checked toward the close.

SMITH PUTS WELLS OUT IN THE SECOND

NEW YORK, March 15.—Thrust back in the second class division by his easy defeat at the hands of Gunboat Smith, the hard hitting western heavyweight, and still wondering how it was that he lost the fight in the second round, Bombadier Wells, champion heavyweight of Great Britain today paid tribute to the conqueror.

"I didn't know what hit me," said he. "Hereafter, I will throw science to the winds and wade right in."

This statement explains in itself the reason for the easy victory of Smith. That rugged fighter, acting on the advice of his seconds, brushed aside the clever defense of his opponent, and, advancing close to the Englishman, he felled him three times with straight rights to the body. Wells was weakened by the first blow, he tottered at the second and the third sent him into dream-land.

ANOTHER BRITON MAY CHALLENGE

NEW YORK, March 15.—The second prospective challenge for the American cup, hinted at by the New York Yacht club when it refused Sir Thomas Lipton's recent challenge for a race with 75 footers, was revealed today in Charles C. Allom, noted British yachtsman, whose 40 foot cutter "Istria" is one of the fastest of her class. While Allom would not admit that he would challenge he said he had opened negotiations for the designing of a syndicate yacht to meet the deed of gift conditions imposed by the New York Yacht club.

NORMAL DEFEATS SUPERIOR QUINTET

Local Pedagogues are Tied for Title in Northern Section of the State

In the most exciting game played in the normal school gym this season the La Crosse normal quintet added another decisive victory to its credit and by so doing becomes tied with Superior, the team they defeated last night, for the championship of the northern district. The teams were evenly matched and the game was featured by clean play, but few fouls being called. The crowd was large considering the atmosphere without and applauded without stint good plays by both sides.

Starting off like a whirlwind the local boys finished the first half with the score 15 to 6 in their favor. Captain Rand was everywhere and during the half made 9 of the 15 points. Dahl was "stuck to" by the Superior guard but played a strong game.

The second half bid fair to blast the hopes of local fans when Connell, the visitors' star forward, let loose with a string of baskets which brought his team within two points of tying the score. Goals by Rand, Dahl and Byers put the game on ice for Coach Carter's men and the whistle sounded with the score 36 to 25. La Crosse on the long end.

Superior plays Stevens Point tonight and it is the hope of local normalites that Stevens Point will win in order that the situation will not resolve itself into a triple tie, a situation which will arise if Superior defeats the Pointers.

The lineup:
Superior—Daly, lg; Whitney, rg; Doonan, c; Giebert, rf; Connell, lf. La Crosse—Rand, rf; Dahl, lf; Forrest, Swannutt, c; Griffin, lg; Byers, rg.
Baskets—Rand, 7; Dahl, 4; Byers, 2; Swannutt, 1; Forrest, 1; Connell, 7; Giebert, 2; Whitney, 1. Free throws—Rand, 1; Dahl, 3; Connell, 1; Whitney, 2. Referee—Bradish. Umpire—Lewis. Time of halves—20 minutes.

LOCALS WIN WAY TO STATE TOURNEY

Defeat Tomah at Sparta in Tight Game by Score of 18 to 8 Last Evening

For the fourth time in as many years the high school basketball team has won its way to the state tourney. The locals defeated the Tomah highs at Sparta last night by the score of 18 to 8, in the preliminary play off to determine which of these teams was to go to the tourney from this part of the state.

The game was witnessed by about seven hundred people mostly from La Crosse and Tomah. There were about 200 from this city, most of whom went up on the special train which left here at 6:30.

The game was not rough only eleven fouls being called on the locals and nine on the Tomah men. The Tomah players did not score a field goal, all of their eight points being obtained from the free shooting of Jaeger, right forward. The work of the local guards was especially noteworthy. They held their forwards from securing a field goal, a remarkable feat of guarding. Weisse played a fine game for the locals at center and the best floor game of the evening. Griswold, the captain and right guard for the Tomah team, played a good game.

The rival rooting match that ensued before the game was one of the most vociferous ever witnessed. The opposing rooting factions sat opposite in the hall and tried with leather lungs to drown out each other. The work of Donnelly who refereed the game was good. He was all over and few fouls missed his eye. He made the game fast and interesting by cutting out all wrangling and roughness.

The game opened with the Tomah men scoring a free throw. Neither team scored for some time after that but finally the locals got their team work into play and scored several times. The half ended with a score of 9 to 5 in favor of the locals. The second half began to tell on the Tomah players and the local men got in more speed and passing than in the first half. Tomah only scored three free throws in this half. Lineup:

La Crosse—Zeisler, rf; Meinert, Garder, lf; Weisse, c; Dornbach, rg; Krause, lg.

Tomah—Jaeger, rf; Higgins, lf; Benjamin, c; Griswold, rg; Maxwell, lg.

Summary:—Field goals, (La Crosse) Meinert, Weisse, Dornbach 2; Zeisler, Krause 1; free throws: (La Crosse) Weisse, Dornbach 1; (Tomah) Jaeger 3; referee, Donnelly (U. of W.)
